Position Summary

The Department of Political Science at Villanova University invites applicants for a tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor starting in the fall semester 2018 in the area of Comparative Politics or International Relations. Candidates should have area expertise in Irish Politics with a specialization in European Politics, Security Studies, Nationalism, Immigration, Social Movements or Political Economy.

Villanova is a Catholic university sponsored by the Augustinian order. Diversity and inclusion have been and will continue to be an integral component of Villanova University's mission. The University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and seeks candidates who understand, respect and can contribute to the University's mission and values. The department values dynamic and diverse faculty members who are committed to teaching, scholarship, and service.

Duties and Responsibilities

Teaching responsibilities include undergraduate and graduate (MA) courses. Teaching duties include a 3-2 teaching load for the first three years. After a successful Third Year Review, a one-semester sabbatical is available in the fourth year and the 3-2 teaching load is continued for another three years. Successful candidates will be able to contribute to the interdisciplinary work of the Center for Irish Studies and represent the Center externally.

Minimum Qualifications

Ph.D. in hand is strongly preferred. ABDs will be considered; however continued employment is subject to completion of the Ph.D. The ability to teach undergraduate research methods is required. Evidence of teaching excellence and promise of a strong record of research and publication are essential. Broad training in political science is expected.

Preferred Qualifications

Strong preference will be given to candidates with a Ph.D. in Political Science from an accredited university.

Physical Requirements and/or Unusual Work Hours
