Job Description

Reporting to the Head of Special Collections and University Archives, the Digital Archivist plays a critical role in managing and preserving the Libraries' digital collections to ensure their long-term preservation and accessibility. The Digital Archivist is responsible for creating and implementing digital preservation plans, engaging in digital curation and collection development, supporting the Libraries' digital collections platform(s), creating and providing guidance on metadata for digital materials, and providing access to Old Dominion University's digital collections. The Digital Archivist administers and prioritizes multiple projects and tasks to meet the goals of the Digital Collections Program, including training, and supervising student employees and interns to assist with program activities. The incumbent is expected to work comfortably and with a high degree of expertise in a shared decision-making environment.
