Job
Description

SUMMARY OF FUNCTIONS:

The Manager of the Center for Inclusive Learning is responsible for providing strategic leadership and operational oversight for services aimed at supporting students with disabilities or special needs. The role involves creating a supportive and inclusive environment, ensuring accessibility, and advocating for policies that promote equity in education. The manager collaborates with academic staff, administrative departments, and external organizations to facilitate the success and well-being of students with disabilities.

ESSENTIAL DUTIES & RESPONSIBILITIES:

- Develop and implement strategic plans to support the academic, social, and emotional development of students of disabilities.
- Lead initiatives that promote inclusivity and accessibility across campus.
- Oversee the delivery of services including academic accommodations, personal support, assistive technology and learning accessibility.
- Facilitate orientation programs for new students with disabilities, ensuring they have the resources they need.
- Serve as a key advocate for students with disabilities, ensuring that their needs are recognized and addressed at all levels of the university.
- Build and maintain relationships with university departments (e.g., academic staff, facilities, IT, and administration) to ensure accessibility in teaching, infrastructure, and digital resources.
- Collaborate with external organizations, government bodies, and community stakeholders to improve support for the students with disabilities.
- Organize workshops, seminars, and events that promote awareness of disability issues within the university community, and deliver training programs for university faculty and staff on inclusive teaching methods, and the use of assistive technology.
- Develop and manage the budget for the center, ensuring optimal allocation of resources for services, equipment, and programs.
- Source and manage grants, funding, and other external resources to support programs.
- Ensure that the university complies with national and international regulations regarding
