Position description

The Stone Center at UC Berkeley is looking for highly skilled and motivated individuals to work as a Specialist at the Junior or, Assistant rank. The job will entail close collaboration during all stages of the research process on several new and ongoing empirical projects in public finance, spatial economics and applied microeconomics. Possible project topics cover questions related to economic disparities across locations, tax competition, the incidence of trade tariffs, population-ageing in space, and inequality.

This position offers the opportunity to gain exposure to and training in a broad set of economic research topics and methodologies before pursuing a PhD in economics. The chosen candidate will gain valuable experience analyzing large datasets, including "big data" sources such as administrative and geospatial data, using techniques from economics and computer science. The candidate will work with programs such as Stata, R, GIS, Matlab, Julia, and Python.
