The Level B Research Fellow will be an essential contributor to our work on Climate Change Communication Research at Monash Malaysia. The CCCR node conducts evidence-based research across communications, social science and biophysical science that is able to inform climate communication programs in South-east Asia. In particular, the climate literacy, concern and behavioural response of diverse social groups in Malaysia to climate change needs to be comprehensively understood prior to any recommendations for communications strategies and policy responses.

The Node brings together expertise in SASS, with collaborators in various Schools at Monash's Malaysia and Indonesia campuses, and the existing team in MCCRH.

Appointees should have an emerging track record of high-quality research in the field/s of the environmental humanities, environmental communication/media, and/or social sciences, with a focus on climate change. This can include, but is not limited to, climate change and:
