Assistant Professor Applicants:

Qualifications:

Applicants must have completed a Ph.D. in Economics, or an equivalent degree, before the starting date of employment. Applicants must have a strong research record, or a promising research agenda, and the ability to contribute effectively to the instruction and supervision of students in the department's degree programs. Successful candidates are expected to teach effectively at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, establish and maintain an active and independent research program, and provide service to the Department, the University, and the Economics profession.

Application Instructions:

To ensure full consideration, all required application materials must be submitted by the closing date of November 27, 2017. Applicants must submit a letter of application stating research and teaching interests, curriculum vita, one or more research papers, and the email addresses for three professional references. For applicants who have not completed their Ph.D., and for applicants who have completed their Ph.D. in 2015 or thereafter, the search committee will directly request letters from the three references. For applicants who completed their Ph.D. prior to 2015, the search committee may contact applicants to solicit letters of references, after having reviewed their research records.

Associate and Full Professor Applicants:

Qualifications:

Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in Economics, or an equivalent degree. Applicants must have an outstanding research record and the ability to contribute effectively to the instruction and supervision of students in the department's degree programs. Successful candidates are expected to teach effectively at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, establish and maintain an active and independent research program, and provide service to the Department, the University, and the Economics profession.

Application Instructions:

To ensure full consideration, all required application materials must be submitted by the closing date of January 16, 2018. Applicants must submit a letter of application stating research and teaching interests, curriculum vita, and the contact information for three professional references.
